PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

The swing product, which consists of tower pipes and wood composite material, which is the product's main component, is designed in a way that allows the child and the older user to use it face-to-face at the same time. The swing is designed to enable the user and the parent to be used at the same time and face to face. In addition to its physical contributions, it also reinforces the parent-user relationship, since the parent is in the same game with the user.
